The European Business Aviation Conference and Exhibition (EBACE) is one of the most important events in the business aviation calendar. It is a showcase for the latest aircraft, products, and services, and a forum for industry leaders to discuss the key issues facing the sector. In 2024, EBACE will be held in Geneva, Switzerland, from May 28 to 30.

The 2024 EBACE Media Report provides a comprehensive overview of the European business aviation market, including market size, fleet composition, and key trends. The report is based on a survey of over 1,000 business aviation professionals, as well as data from industry sources. The report provides valuable insights into the current state of the market and the outlook for the future.

Market Size

The European business aviation market is one of the largest in the world, accounting for around 30% of global business aviation activity. In 2023, the market was valued at an estimated $15 billion. The market is expected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 2.5% over the next five years, reaching a value of $18 billion by 2028.

Fleet Composition

The European business aviation fleet is composed of a wide variety of aircraft, from small single-engine turboprops to large intercontinental jets. The most popular aircraft types in Europe are the Cessna Citation CJ3, the Embraer Phenom 300, and the Bombardier Challenger 350. These aircraft are popular due to their combination of performance, range, and comfort.

Key Trends

The European business aviation market is facing a number of key trends, including:

- The increasing use of business aviation for point-to-point travel.
- The growing demand for sustainable business aviation practices.
- The increasing use of technology to improve efficiency and safety.
- The growing importance of data and analytics.

The Future of European Business Aviation

The European business aviation market is well-positioned for growth over the next five years. The market is expected to benefit from the increasing demand for business aviation for point-to-point travel, the growing demand for sustainable business aviation practices, and the increasing use of technology to improve efficiency and safety. The market is also expected to benefit from the growing importance of data and analytics, which will help businesses to make better decisions about their business aviation operations.
